← W. T. White's

Just as we cherish our childhood toys, so we treasure our all too fleeting memories of school days. It is our wish that the 1936-1937 issue of the Sundial will bring back to you memories of one of the happiest years of your life.

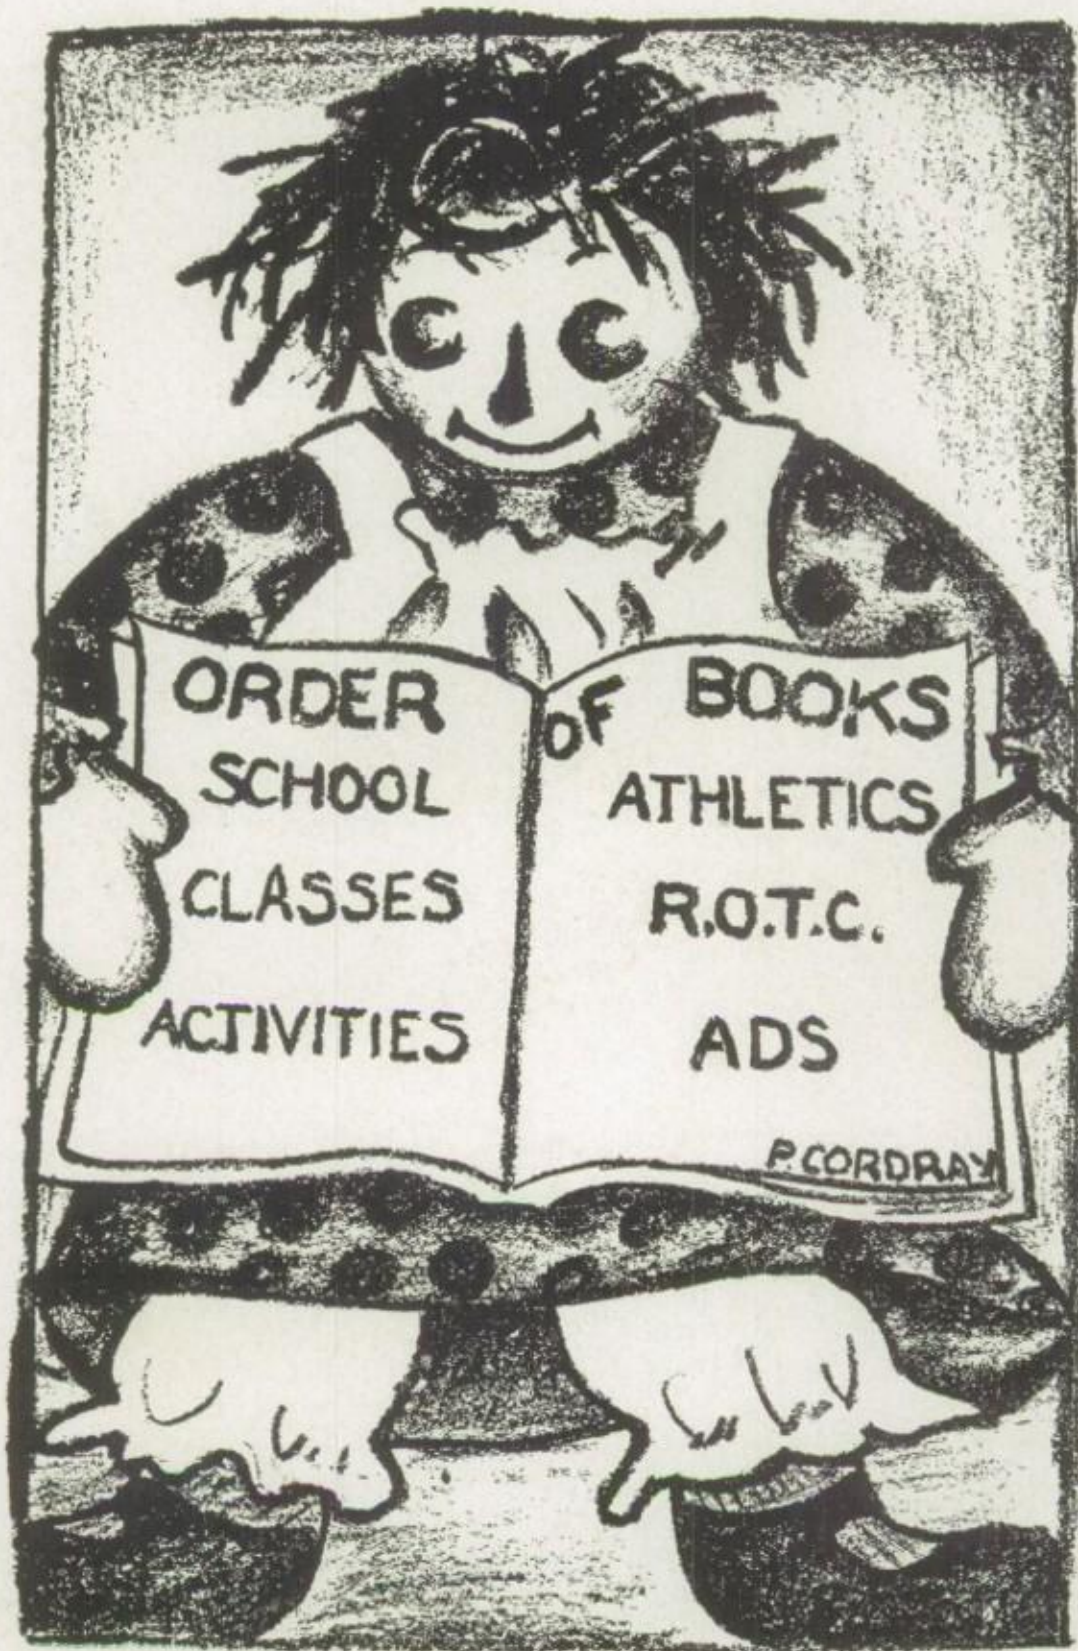

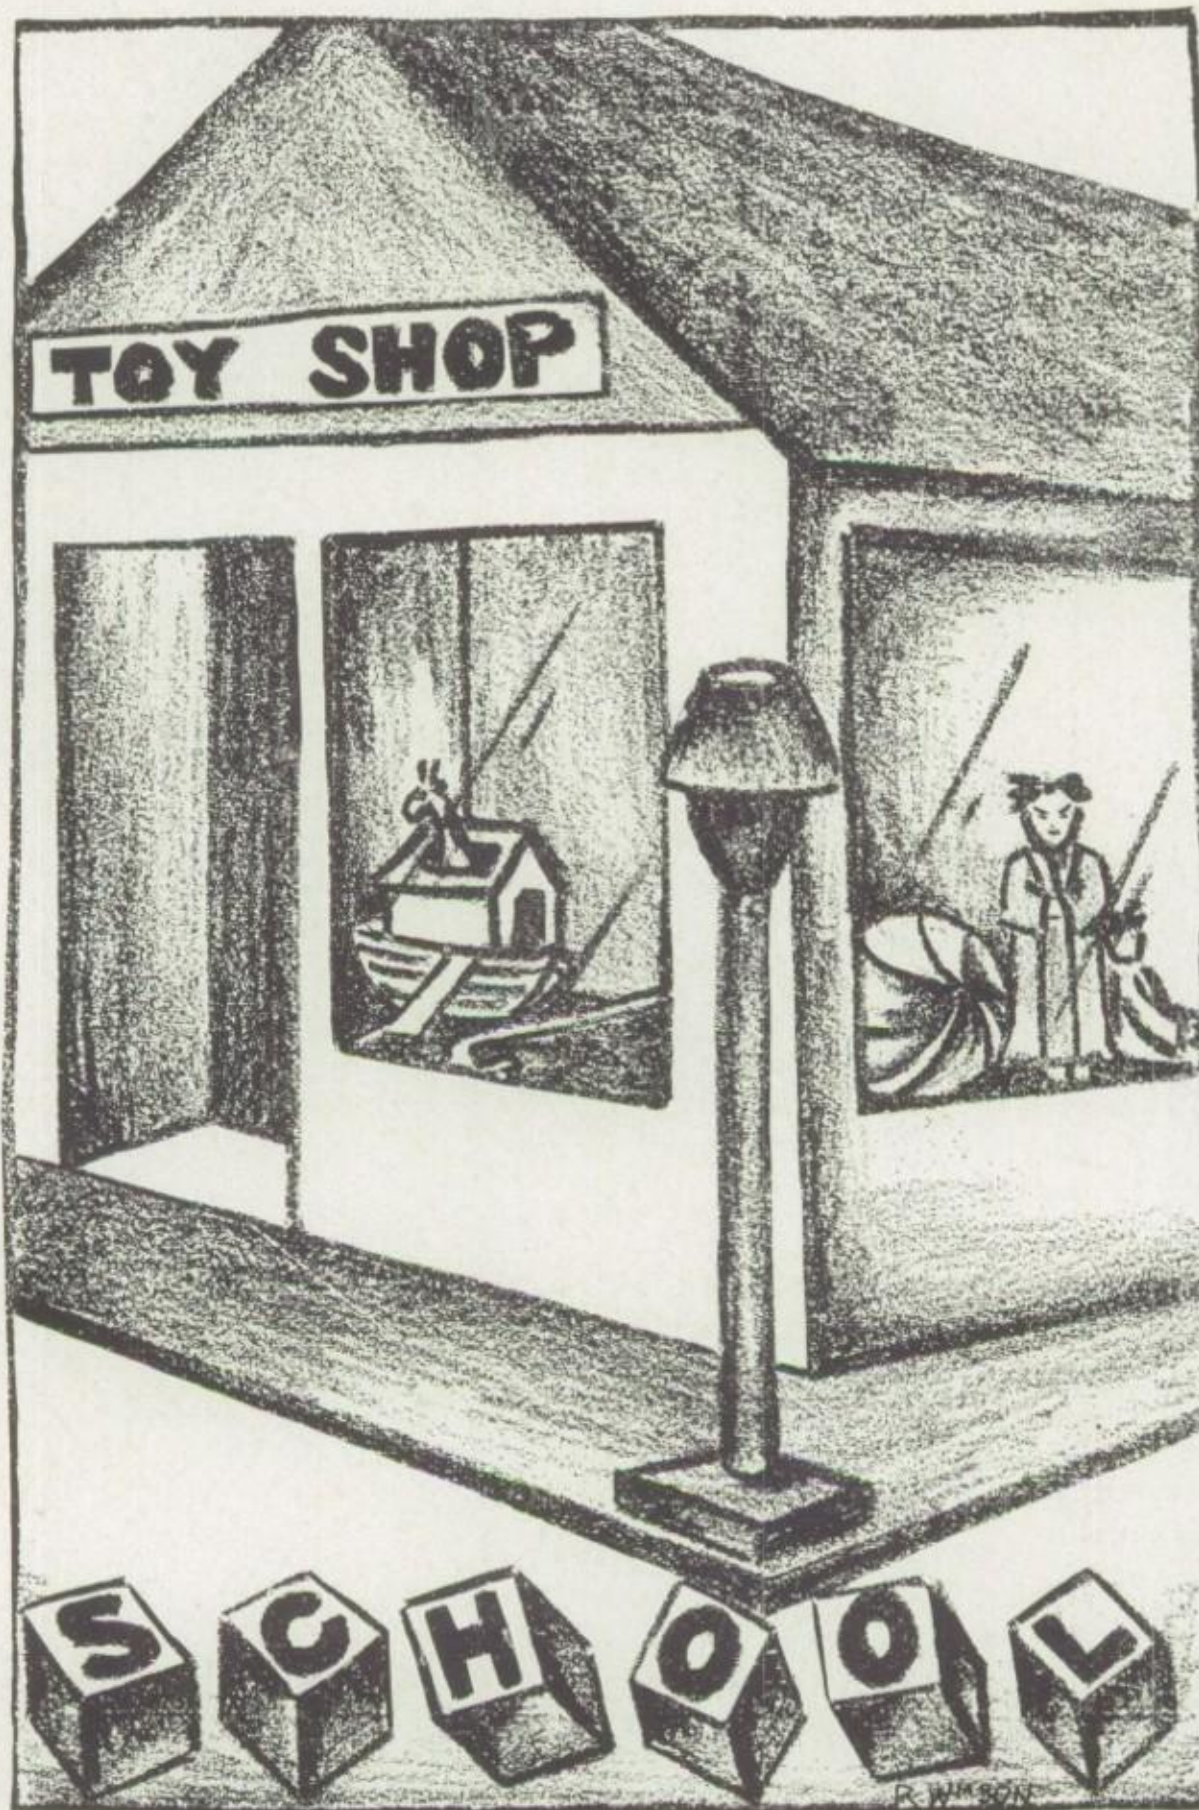

To

MR. R. C. PANTERMUEHL, who because of his wisdom,
friendliness, and patience has found a permanent place in our affections, we dedicate the twelfth volume of the Sundial

DEDICATION

W. T. White

WARREN TRAVIS WHITE, Principal

To my friends, The Seniors:

You are leaving me, but I am not saying goodbye; I shall see you many times, and frequently, I hope, as the months and years go by. Come back; visit with us; tell us of your successes; we shall be interested in what you are doing for a long time to come.

I expect a lot of you, and from you. I know your worth. You are the salt of the earth. We are all fond of you, and value your friendship. And wherever you go, my best wishes for your success and worthwhile happiness are yours.

Since its organization in 1925, the Dads' Club has been instrumental in promoting good fellowship among the parents, the faculty, and the student body. It has striven to support and sponsor everything which would increase the prestige of Sunset High School and which would engender a useful community school spirit. During the year 1936-37 the club, which has an active membership of more than five hundred, has worked conscientiously to achieve its objectives. The outstanding accomplishments for the current year are the broadening of the Student Loan Fund to assist graduates in obtaining business education, the creation of an employment advisory committee, the awarding of prizes to outstanding students in order to stimulate ambition and a desire to make the most of opportunities before them and the sponsoring of a gymboree for the purpose of purchasing uniforms for the Sunset Band. It is constantly on the alert in all matters affecting the welfare of the school, student body, and community and is now engaged in trying to obtain several much-needed improvements for the school.

THE BALLAD OF "THE ANTS AND THE GRASSHOPPER," BY AESOP

By Jean Carey

I

Once there lived in a village green
A grasshopper, happy and gay;
And every day in the fields he was seen
Laughing and singing away.
He had no house, for the weather was fine
And at night he slept under the moon;
Nor did he worry about the fact
That it would be winter soon.

II

While he would play his violin gay,
Some wise little ants would pass,
Carrying twigs and bread crumbs and figs
To their newly-built house in the grass.
They labored their way through the long summer days
Preparing for snow and sleet,
While Elmer, the grasshopper, sang and played
And patted his clumsy feet.

III

Now soon October rolled around
And the leaves turned yellow and red;
Snow began falling upon the ground
And on top of Elmer's head.
Weary and ill he staggered on;
The snow fell more and more.
When he sighted the house of the hard-working ants,
He was forced to knock on the door.

IV

The Queen of the ants stately opened the door,
While the others looked eagerly on;
Very slowly poor Elmer staggered in
And the Queen went back to her throne.
How Elmer welcomed the cheerful, warm fire
On this dark and dreary night!
With ice-water dripping from head to toe
He was quite an amusing sight.

V

When our six-legged friend had thawed out by the fire
And had gratefully thanked the Queen,
A million ants began to inquire
Just why and where he had been.
He shamefully told the things he had done
When the weather was warm and bright;
And timidly asked the Queen of the ants
If he could spend just one night.

VI

"Now take your fiddle," she angrily said;
He reached for his hat in dismay.
Her voice continued and sweetly said,
"Now take your fiddle—and play."
Overjoyed our Elmer played
The merriest tunes he could;
And determined that on the next warm days—
He could—if he only would.
MORAL: "There's a time for work and a time for play."

A SENIOR'S DIARY

SEPTEMBER 14. This day started I to school for a nine month. I found thus how much I did enjoy my summer. Great hustle and bustle to classes. Home and to bed early for the morrow.

SEPTEMBER 19. Up by seven to school, where at assembly Mr. White greeted new pupils with stately grace becoming to his dignity. That night a team, namely South Park, from Beaumont did come to play us only to be beaten. The score of which game was 61 to 0.

SEPTEMBER 25. The weather spices and football is again the subject. Three comely maids, Susan Isham, Dorothy Jean Maxich, and Joy Smith, with three handsome youths, Frank Scott, Warren Smith, and Bill White, have been chosen to lead our goodly company in various yells and sayings for to encourage our team which do run with the ball.

OCTOBER 3. Up this morning in great anticipation for a game with North Dallas. To bed with sorrow. "Snooky" Brooks and Hagerman could score but 8, while Riggs and Baldwin could not keep them from getting 13. Alas, I fear I and Mr. Bushman will take it hard.

OCTOBER 9. This day our victory of 21 to 0 at Tyler will be long remembered for more than football reasons. Excursions are found to be for fun and fooleries as well as transportation for which they are.

OCTOBER 16. Eureka, success! The purple of the Bisons do make us proud. At the game which we played with the Forest Avenue High School Lions, we conquered with a pleasing score of 13 to 0. 'Tis said thirteen is a cursed number, which I do not believe.

OCTOBER 21. At school this day we did practice for Pep Squad again in which we march and march but get nowhere. Ah, lack-a-day, my feet do groan in agony. A hot bath for them and to bed.

OCTOBER 23. And still we triumph. A red-coated team from Houston, John Reagan, 'twas called, were come to fight us only to lose at 25 to 0 on a muddy field. The game was most washed 'way by rain.

OCTOBER 27. And the first six-weeks is flown like a bear with leaden feet. Report cards with "ahs" and "ows." Truly the demeanor of some wouldst give the thought that the world were ended. 'Tis not hard to guess why.

OCTOBER 30. Football, football, football, what cheers are given in your name. Faith, and my lungs are exhausted from giving stentorian yells at the breathless game we didst play against Woodrow Wilson High. Truly 'twas never a game more exciting. My heart pounded so violently I thought 'twould burst. Billy Bushman and I were proud of 30 to 7.

NOVEMBER 6. The big football dance was held tonight with more fun and cheer than one could imagine. 'Twas with reluctance that many would go home.

NOVEMBER 11. Up at dawn and a big football game this afternoon. Our neighbors, the Adamson Leopards, do surprise me at times, astonish me at moments, and overwhelm at seconds, all of which did occur when they scored 12 points and we had but a lonely zero. I sigh at the thought of it. And so to bed with all hopes crushed.

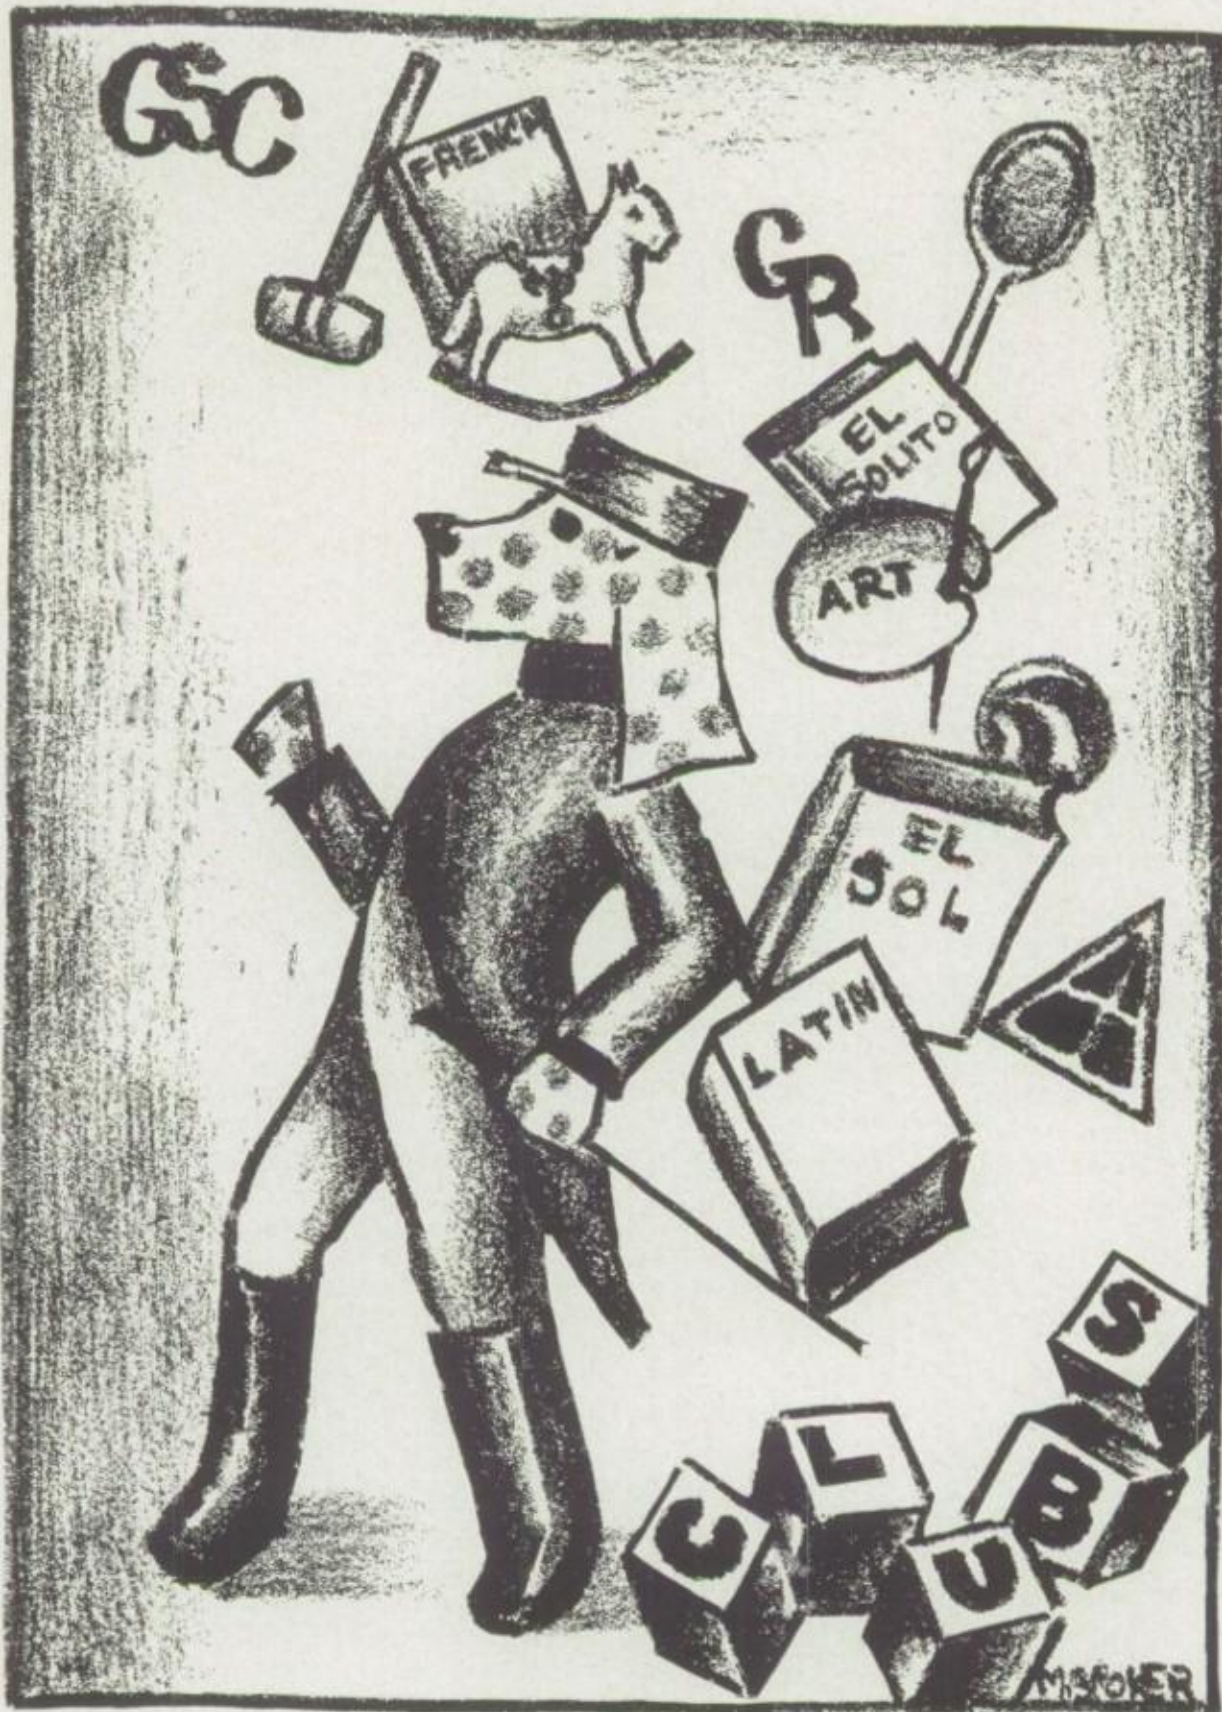

NOVEMBER 17. I find that our students have banked increasingly for to help their advisories. This day there has been 1,281 depositors which pleases Mr. White mightily.

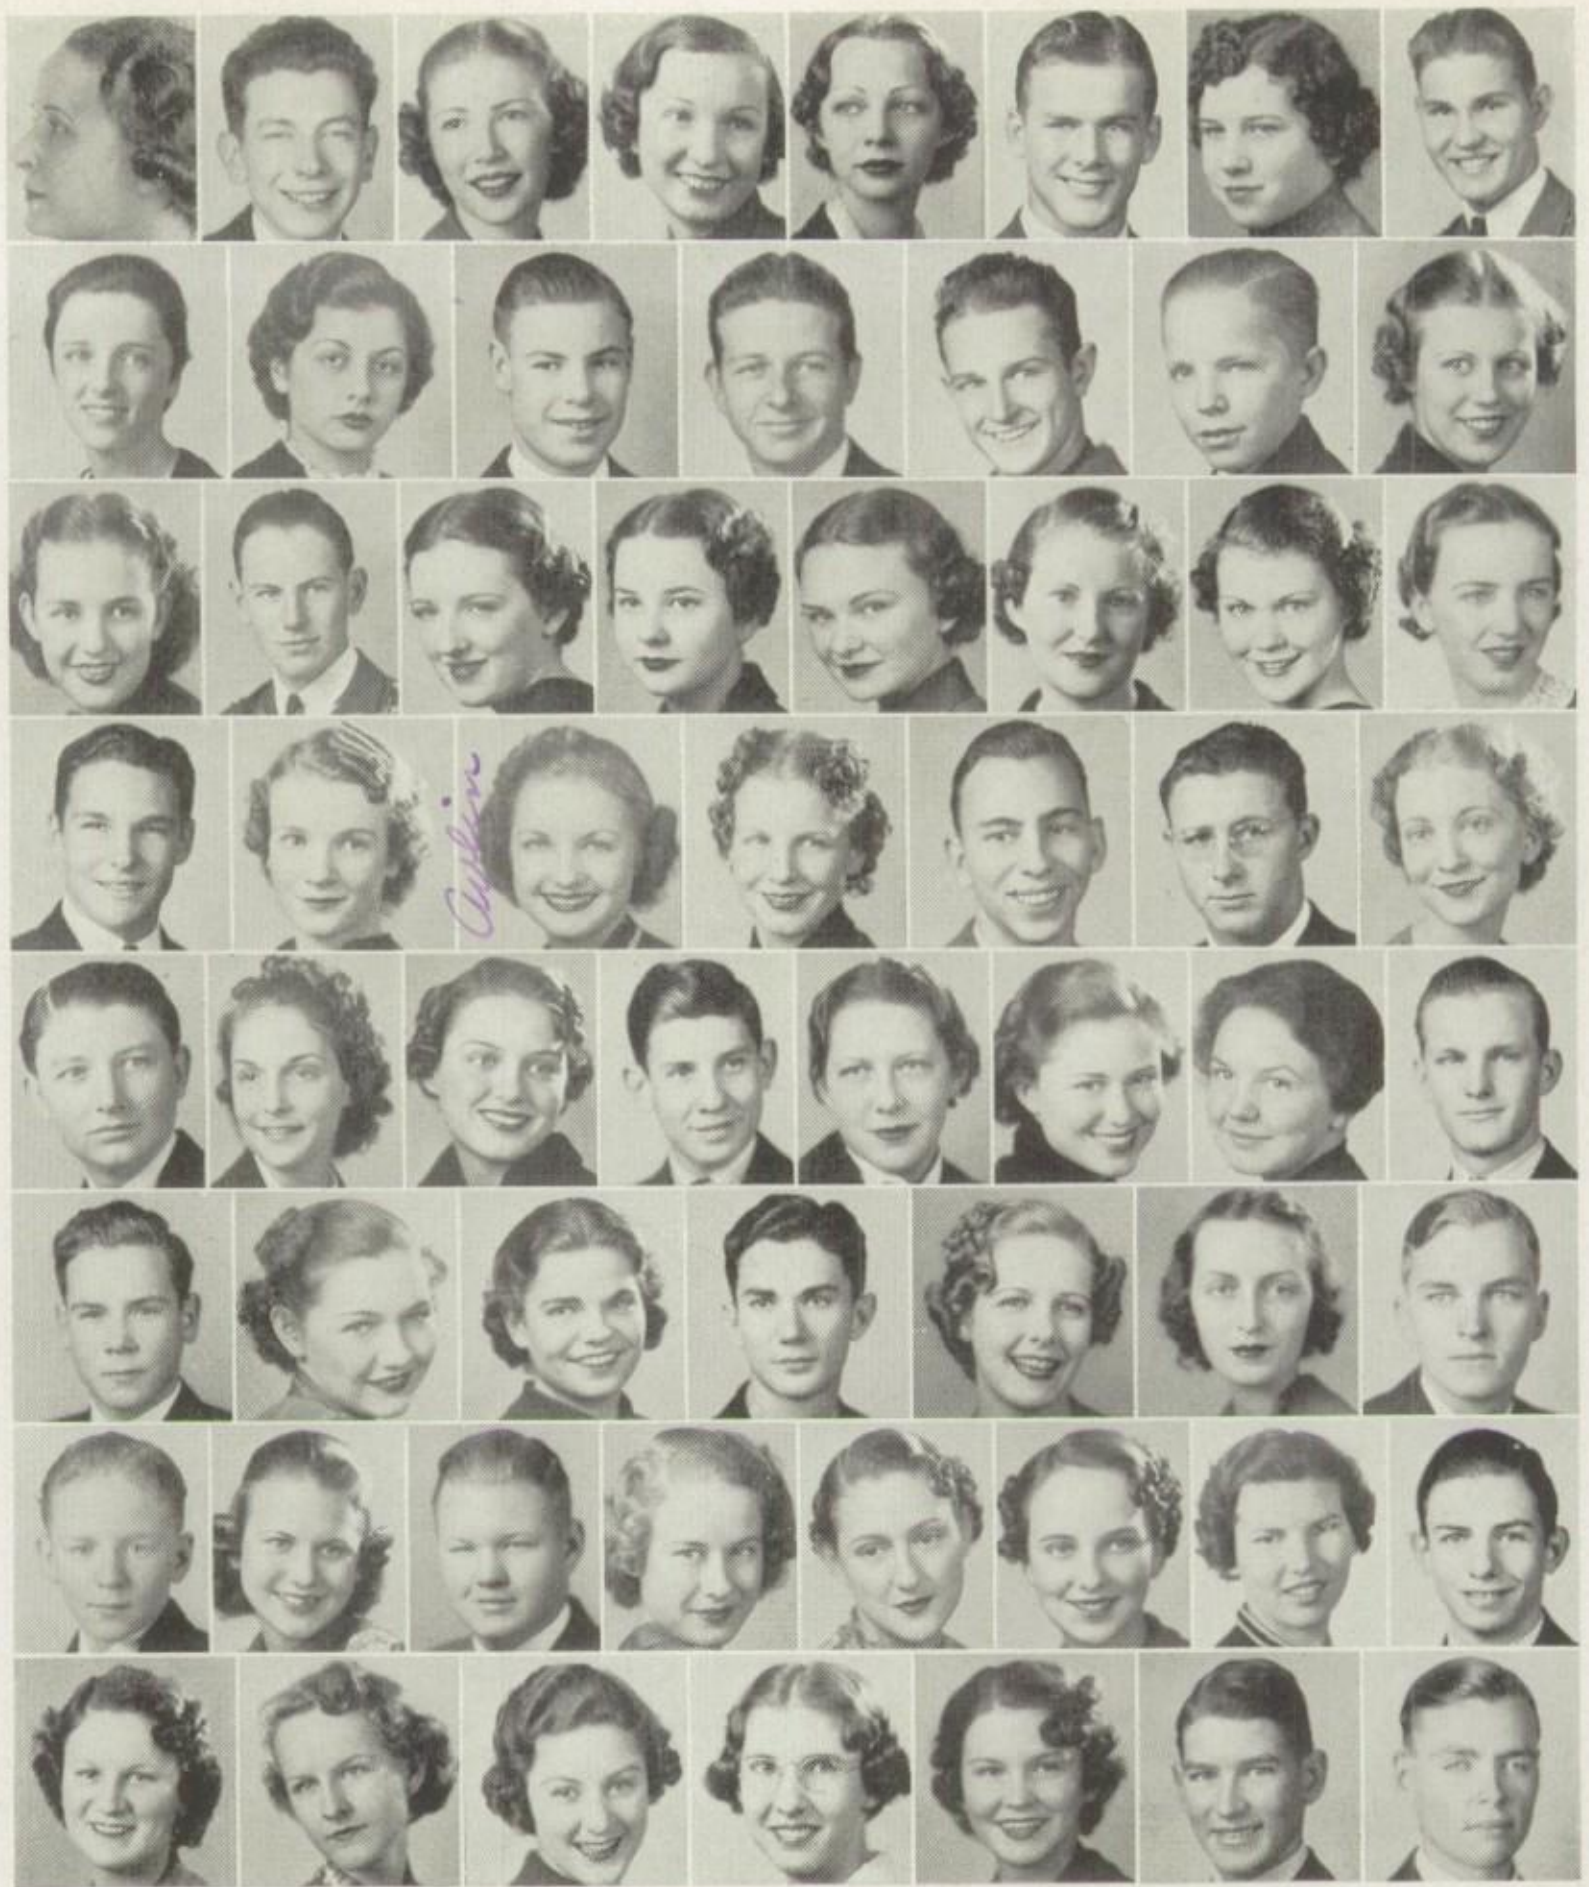

NOVEMBER 21. The football season has now ended with the proverbial bang. 'Tis with pride I write that we tied the Dallas Technical Wolves 6 to 6. Faith, the game was really ours by penetrations and didn't we win the ball?

NOVEMBER 24. Up and to school where I did bank to help my advisory. Students have been working steadily to put their home rooms on top. Indeed, there were fourteen classes that deposited 100%, which pleases all greatly.

NOVEMBER 25. Miss Hedde, our beloved teacher who doth teach one to act and speak has presented a most glamorous pageant. Never has Sunset seen the like. All did like the Goddess of Liberty, the Pilgrims and the Indians too. Methinks I'd like to see it again.

NOVEMBER 30. Holidays are over, and it is Monday again. Everyone is sleepy and quiet for a change. Too much turkey and too many parties are evident.

"HOT COPY"

The graduating class of January, 1937, presented the play "Hot Copy" by Clark Willard, in the Sunset High School auditorium on December 11, 1936. "Hot Copy" was a comedy of newspaper life, in three acts. It was the story of how Kenneth Wade, owner and editor of a small town newspaper, aided by an eccentric social climber, Hazel Winston, sold an important manuscript and paid the debt necessary to keep his paper from going into the hands of a crooked politician, Dudley Kay. All of the scenes took place in the office of the Evening Herald.

- DECEMBER 2. To school to choose a president to rule our student body. Carroll Ellis was elected which I think a good choice. Georgia Rhey Owens was forthwith appointed his secretary, for which she is well suited. Home, supper, and so to bed.
- DECEMBER 8. Up betimes and to my classes which do bore me mightily. Report cards are due today which doth make me feel ill. Will Christmas never come?
- DECEMBER 11. Up and spent the day at school as always. Home and then to school again that night for a play which the senior class did present. The script "Hot Copy" did have Alice Thomas and Snooky Brooks as the leading players. Faith, and I did enjoy it mightily.
- DECEMBER 14. I found this day Mr. Bushman who did coach our team these many years will endeavor to train an all-star team which will play another all-star team. Mr. Bushman's boys do call themselves Bluejays and the other team, coached by Wally Davis of Tech, go by the name of Redbirds.
- DECEMBER 18. Up this morning and to school by eight where I did pay one dime to see the antics of Little Willie. The P. T. A. sponsored this bit of fun with Roy Newman, Uncle Ed, and Homer Jordon there also.
- DECEMBER 19. The Bluejays of Mr. Bushman have lost 7 to 2 to the Red team. Our pep squad as well as those of other schools did a fancy drill which was applauded most vigorously. The excitement did weary one. And so to bed.
- DECEMBER 22. Mr. Michels hath presented us this morning with an assembly of song and dance for to encourage Christmas cheer. The chorus and orchestra which he directs did give us something of great entertainment. Faith, Christmas should come more often.
- JANUARY 4. Up betimes with great lament. The holidays are gone and to school I must wander. Classes do bore me mightily. And so to bed.
- JANUARY 12. Up, and walked to school this morning to elect most popular students. The pupils were of a mind to choose Dorothy Jean Maxich the most beautiful girl; W. D. McDaniel, the handsomest boy; Elaine Brown, the most popular senior girl; Lynn Barnett, the most popular senior boy, and Carroll Ellis, the most popular under-class boy which did please these five mightily.
- JANUARY 15. Up this morning before dawn. Dressed and to school by 7:30 to help pin flowers on the seniors. Then an assembly in which the seniors let down their hair for to act like freshmen. I laughed until my sides ached at their funny capers. Hill-billies from Arkansas have nothing on our city-williams from Sunset. And so to classes.
- JANUARY 22. Up and to school for the last day of school of the term. Eighty-five honor roll pupils received Linz Pins for which they have worked eighteen weeks. Exams start next week; so studying is indicated.
- JANUARY 29. Last day of this semester. Report cards were handed out and most were mightily pleased to have passed. Commencement and a dance tonight. So much to do.
- FEBRUARY 1, 1937. This day to school and to enroll. The first day quite trying. Funny to see classrooms turned to lunchrooms. Many freshmen. With thanks I think exams being over. Did find that Mr. Bushman will no longer coach at Sunset. He has taken the position as principal at Winnetka. Mr. Cowley to take his place. From Bonham comes Mr. K. L. Strickland to take Mr. Cowley's place.
- FEBRUARY 8. Plans for a great "Gymboree" are being made at school these days. Most clubs must raise money which, along with the "Gymboree" will pay for elegant new band uniforms which do cost over two thousand dollars. No wonder they say there's something about a uniform.
- FEBRUARY 19. To the gym this afternoon to see the mirthful basketball match betwixt the faculty and the students' team which did make all roar with laughter. Mr. Cowley did score highest for the teachers and Paul Cordray was the best student player.
- MARCH 5, 1937. Spring draws on apace and my spare time grows shorter as the days grow longer. Therefore I find I must discontinue my diary and with the gravest sorrow I lay down my pen, having to depend henceforth on brief notes to keep my account. My ink is drying. My book is finished.

Sunset vs. South Park

Uncorking the season, the blocking, charging Bisons opened up a stellar running and passing attack which very decisively smothered the lighter gridders from Beaumont, under the count of 61 to 0. The Bisons thus began their football season with a game which fell little short of a track meet.

JAMES WILCOX

"Lanky," lofty Sunset end, was an integral part of the Bison offense because of his pass-catching ability. He was named All-City end in recognition of his outstanding playing.

WALLACE CRAIN

Although short, Wally was a powerful unit in the strength of Sunset's forward wall. He handled his duties as guard nicely; few tacklers ever broke through his position.

C. W. CHURCHILL

A potent factor in Sunset's offense at his end position, C. W. was always reliable and never failed to give all the energy he possessed to cracking enemy lines and snagging passes.

LYNN BARNETT

Barnett, captain and ace tackle for the Bisons, was unquestionably an All-City player. He set the pace for the other gridders, and filled capably for the last time, the position he has held for three years.

TOMMY HOUSTON

Willing and able to care for his position at guard, Tommy performed well as both blocker and tackler, while his place kicks added many precious points to Bison scores.

THELWYN PONDER

A perfect pass from center was all but certain from "T" Ponder. He made few mistakes on the offense and developed into a tough tackler on the defense.

Sunset vs. Garland

As usual, Jim Riley's hard-fighting eleven gave Sunset plenty of competition in a fairly evenly fought battle. So, while held in check by the Owls' superior punting and handicapped by the driving rain and ankle-deep mud, the Bisons were able to reach the Owl goal line only once.

Sunset vs. North Dallas

The favored Bisons, somewhat over-confident, met their first defeat of the season at the hands of the North Dallas Bulldogs. As their opponents capitalized on every advantage, and as the Bisons failed to utilize their own, the result was that in spite of three times as many first downs and more ground gained, when the final gun sounded, Sunset was on the little end of a 15 to 8 score.

ROBERT MALONEY

Robert undoubtedly played heads-up football, for his fumble recovering ability was unapproached. He has plenty of punch, and next season should see him go far.

ELWYN PONDER

With a double helping of work and an under share of recognition, Elwyn, at blocking half, opened the way for countless gains by the ball carriers.

OWEN COBB

Whenever the signals called for a center plunge, Cobb was designated to produce results. His power drives from the fullback position gained many valuable yards for the Bisons.

CLIFFORD HAGERMAN

Again proving himself one of the speediest backs in the city, Clifford, by his hard drives, often turned the tide and brought victory Sunset's way. A peerless passer, a fast ball carrier, and an excellent punter, Cliff was all these and more; so in leaving, he opens a difficult position to fill.

GLENN BROOKS

Elusive "Snooky" Brooks always turned in a game which made Sunset proud to own him; for his rumba and bolero through opposing lines was an accomplishment equaled by few other backfield men in the city. Sunset loses an outstanding gridder as Brooks leaves high school.

JAMES RIGGS

At fullback, Riggs did a fine job of running interference for his team mates; moreover, he got away for some nice gains when he carried the mail.

Sunset vs. Tyler

Accompanied by a trainload of fans, the Bisons trekked to Tyler; and, showing very superior defensive play, held the highly touted Lions scoreless. Meanwhile, behind excellent interference, the Bison backs repeatedly gained ground in off-tackle smashes. In that manner Hagerman and Cobb secured most of the yardage which netted Sunset's three touchdowns.

JACK WALLER

Jack was a thoroughly dependable linesman, and he seldom failed to block his man out of play from his position at tackle.

LOUIS TAYLOR

Not only was Louis an able blocker who paved the way for the Bison gains, but he was also a deadly tackler, who allowed few ball carriers to work past his position at blocking half.

GEORGE BENTINCK

George could always be trusted to block out the tacklers who came around his end. He fought hard and played clean, first-class football.

Sunset vs. Forest

Opposed by a stubborn band of fighting Lions, Sunset took to the air in a successful effort to combat the opposition put up by Forest. A trick pass play just before the half ended served to give Sunset the lead, and after the half, another pass, Hagerman to Wilcox, completed the scoring and gave the Bisons the victory.

Edward Goodman

EDWARD GOODMAN

Hard, bruising tackles were Goodman's specialty at guard. He is built for the line and should be a nightmare to opposing teams next fall.

HARTWELL BALDWIN

Because of his size, Baldwin was one of the most valuable gridders in the Sunset line. He blocked and tackled hard, leading many plays through the opposing lines.

Hartwell Baldwin

BILL GERNER

Bill was very competent at tackle, and he broke up many plays in his line of duty.

Sunset vs. John Reagan

In a very muddy Cotton Bowl, the Sunset gridders completely outclassed the squad from Houston. With Brooks and Hagerman dividing scoring honors, Sunset played a nice offensive game, easily taking their opponents to the tune of 25 to 0.

Sunset vs. Woodrow Wilson

In this very exciting game, the spectators were given a rare treat. After Sunset's first touchdown, Lonnie Hill, Wildcat star, galloped very neatly over half the field to the Bison goal, but scarcely had the cheering subsided when Hagerman, who received the ball for the Bisons, raced seventy-eight yards for a Sunset marker. As the game proceeded, Sunset acquired three more counters, and the game ended with the defeated Wildcats trailing 30 to 6.

Sunset vs. Tech

The Bison squad met the Wolves with first-rate football; nevertheless, in the first half, the heavier Wolves clicked to plunge over the zero line and take the lead. In the last half, however, the Bisons' desire

JIMMY SORRELS

Jimmy, a heavy center, turned out excellent football, but he was handicapped the latter part of the season by an injured hand.

PAT PATTERSON

Taking care of a herd of Bisons is a difficult job, but Pat executed his part faithfully.

PAUL CORDRAY

Executing some noteworthy pass catching, Paul was an end of considerable worth, especially on the offense.

JACK CRANNELL

In performing the work of senior manager for the Bisons, Jack was indispensable as water boy and general handyman.

for revenge welled up, and the game was carried to Tech. First, Maloney gained the ball for Sunset on a recovered fumble, paving the way. Then, shortly, a toss, Hagerman to Wilcox, brought the dramatic six points which tied the game and pleased the Bison fans immensely.

Sunset vs. Adamson

A season of football up-sets was topped off when a team of inspired Leopards, led by Willis, tore through the Bison defense to victory. The Bisons, stunned by the unexpected opposition, were unable to gain headway against their under-rated opponents, and Sunset's majority of first downs went for naught as the 12 to 0 score gave Adamson the championship of Oak Cliff.

PILGRIMAGE OF SUNSET

As I sat in class one day, I fell into a deep sleep and dreamed a dream. There was a certain man named Christian whose surname was Sunset, and he was making his way through a treacherous world to a city of promise called City Championship. His family, commonly called Student Body, stood proudly behind him during his victories, but was prone to let him down at the least sign of defeat. Sunset was being directed in his pilgrimage by an evangelist called Bushman.

I saw in my dream that Sunset was not long upon his journey before he came to a place named North Dallas Slough, where the land was soft and muddy, and he sank until he was almost covered in the mire; only after much struggling he was able to pull himself out of the Slough. This place, some say, was caused by overconfidence, but it might be filled up by common sense.

Now I saw that as Sunset went through a wicket gate which was kept by a good man called Cheer Leader, he came to the house of the interpreter whose name was Forest, where he again received strength and courage to continue his pilgrimage.

After several days of travel, Sunset came to a Palace Beautiful where he desired rest, but he met there two pilgrims named Woodrow and Wilson who warned him to venture no farther, for the gates of the palace were closely guarded by eleven wildcats. Sunset's fear almost caused him to turn back, but he mustered his courage and went on. When he came up to the wildcats he was overjoyed to find them chained out of his reach, and he was able to pass unharmed. Now there lived in that palace two men of great patience and integrity, named Cowley and Matthews, who greatly encouraged and strengthened Sunset, and sent him upon his way, after warning him of the perils which lay before him.

As Sunset strode rapidly along in his journey, he came to a place where the highway divided, and he was sorely puzzled as to which way to turn. Then came there a man along the way called Adamson who promised to show Sunset the way to City Championship, as he was going there himself; but, alas, he was only a flatterer who by false words had turned Sunset from his way, and bound him in a net.

"Alas," wailed Sunset, "I shall never see the City Championship, for I must perish here." But it happened that Bushman was passing that way and when he heard Sunset's cries he loosed him, and laid stripes on his back, because he had not listened more closely to directions. Bushman again put him in the right path and left him.

Then Sunset began to screw up his courage and quicken his pace, because he had but one more difficulty to overcome before he came to the City. Watchfully he entered the enchanted ground which he knew was infested with wolves; but it was not long before a pack of them gave chase to Sunset and would have killed him, but that he drew his sword of victory and slew the entire pack.

As Sunset resumed his journey, he met one named Technical who was going on the same pilgrimage; so they walked and talked together, and it chanced that Sunset discovered Technical had no pass to City Championship. They discussed his possibility of gaining entrance; Sunset believed it would be impossible, but Technical would not be convinced. I saw in my dream that they came in sight of the city of promise, and its beauty awed the pilgrims. Then came there from the city scores of white-robed figures who blew trumpets and sang songs of welcome to Sunset and crowned him with a crown of victory. But as Sunset looked back to the gates of the city he saw Technical being carried off by vile-looking creatures into the cavern of Defeat.

And I awoke from my dream to find thirty pairs of eyes upon me, and my teacher imploring me to stay awake in class.

Little Mary had been playing unnoticed on the porch one evening while her father and a friend were, as usual, discussing politics. Later that night Mary knelt by her little bed and said her prayers, which ended something like this:

"Bless daddy and mother, and please, God, take good care of yourself, for if anything happens to you we'd only have the President and he hasn't come up to father's expectations."

"Give me a match, Bill."
